Mrs. Gabe said she was only a servant in the house; she stepped into another room, pretending to call Mr. Gabe, and Lang laughed and told her to step bluffing and hand over the money.

Mrs. Gabe instead of handing over money, picked up her husband's gun from behind the door and pointed it at Lang's head, and he threw up both hands, and, falling to his knees, begged her not to shoot.

"Leave this house at once or I'll blow your heaf off." said Mrs. Gabe, as Lang backed out of the house, and then doffing his hat, ran across a field.

Government Fears to Offend by Refusal, but Hesitates to Permit Foreign Eyes to Rest Upon Sacred Precincts of Famous Fortress-Must Maintain Friendly Atti-

[Special Cable to The Times-Dispatch.] London, April 26.-Great Britain is in consternation to-day over the desire of Emperor William of Germany to inspect the fortifications at Gibraltar while a guest on board the new Hamburg-American liner Imperator, which sails from Cuxhaven on the 28th of this month for Gibraltar on her trial trip. On the trip the Emperor will be accompanied by Admiral von Tirpitz, the German Minister of Marine, and the leader of the Anglophobe party in Germany; and also by a large military and naval suite.

The situation is peculiarly embarrassing to the English, because about 0 per cent of the value of the fortifications at Gibraltar depends on se-crecy. If the Kaiser and his suite are allowed to visit the fortifications this secrecy will be lost. On the other hand, if the English government refuses to allow the Emperor to visit the stronghold, it will give confirmation to the story that the English consider the Germans a potential foe, and at the same time offendeth. at the same time offend the Emperor and his people.

England has never permitted any foreign military attaches to visit the fortifications, upon which millions of pounds sterling have been spent. The defensive works, hidden batteries and concealed guns have been guarded with

H. L. Waller, thirty-three years old, a real estate dealer, with offices in the Mutual Building, was arrested yesterday noon by Detectives G. P. Smith and F. J. Gentry on the charge of grand larceny. Waller was not locked up, but taken to the Hustings Court, where he furnished $500 bond for his appearance before Police Justice Crutchfield to-morrow morning, with F. B. Berkeiey as surety.

According to the police, Waller's difficulty is gaid to have been the result of a real estate deal, and that he failed to make proper returns to Mrs. Jones. Waller will attempt to show that the matter is one for civil action and not criminal.
